

THE OCTOBER FEST

Class: IK 1

A month has elapsed in the calendar year. The saying “Time and Tide Waits for None” is so very true.

Metaphorically the children have started taking from tiny steps to a few larger steps articulating their reception of lessons. We see a marked improvement from the time they set foot at Edify till date.

The monochromatic color scheme for the month is the color Blue. Blue based color has been chosen to create a atmosphere of peace and tranquility.

The month of October is packed with numerous celebrations of varied themes. We start with the commemoration of Gandhi Jayanthi which falls on second of October and is also observed as World Ahimsa Day

We take pride in inviting you to an informal meeting called Coffee Morning. Here we give you a glimpse of what the children have learnt so far in the school.

Navarathri will be celebrated in this month and we have decided to have a rangoli competition . Also we enlighten the children the significance of Dusshera .

A PTM has been scheduled on 17th of this month before we close for autumn break. The school is scheduled to reopen on 26th October.

On the 27th of this month we will celebrate Halloween Day as a part of Internationalism to create awareness of the significance of Halloween Day.

In earnest hope we wish you have a memorable month of vacationing.

Wishing you a happy and a cheerful time in the days to come.

Team IK1

The events for the month are enumerated below:

PRE MATH CONCEPT

- Introduction of Numbers from 1 to 4 using abacus, Tracing numbers on sandpaper .

English

- Introduction of letter Ll, Mm, Nn, Oo, Pp with phonics and pictures.

RHYMES

Learning outcome

Children will learn about

- Patriotism.
- Cleanliness.
- Actions, Awareness of Body Parts

- Phonic rhymes from Hh to Pp.
- Gandhiji celebration -kannada song-Bala kai yale Geetha...
- Bits of paper...(integrated with Swacha bharath.)

- Clap your Hands

Story ( based on the profile Enthusiastic)

“The Cheerful Charlie”

Cheerful Charlie was a very special boy. When he was still tiny, and in his mother's tummy, she had had an accident, which meant that Charlie couldn't walk. But that had never been a problem for him; he had always been happy to be able to grow and become an older boy.

They had started calling him Cheerful Charlie because his joyful and enthusiastic nature was so contagious. He really brightened everything up for those around him.

There wasn't a builder, a postman, or a taxi driver who wasn't pleased to see Charlie.

"Cheer up, Mr. Postman, that way you'll deliver more letters today than any other!" he would say, or "That was great, Mr. Taxi Driver, you park that thing better than anyone. You should enter a competition!" He also had great ideas and solutions for everything; and he shared them so generously that, just about every day in that town, someone did a great job of something, or invented something new, thanks to Charlie's ideas.

One day, though, he came up against a really tough nut to crack. A young boy came to town on his holidays. He was known as Waterworks, and he was a real crybaby. No matter what Charlie said to him, Waterworks would always find some reason to be sad:

"I don't have many sweets... my parents didn't buy me that toy... I can't watch television... I have to go to school, and I don't like it..." Everything seemed so bad to him. But Cheerful

Charlie wasn't going to let a grump like that drag him down, and he kept spending more time with Waterworks, constantly trying to cheer him up, just as he did with everyone.

Then, one day, when the two of them were together in the street, someone dropped a pie from a window above, and it landed right on Charlie's head. He got such a fright that he couldn't even move his lips. The two boys were speechless, and although Waterworks was just about to cry, during those moments of silence, he missed Charlie's happy words so much that he finally said, "Wow, Charlie, that's a nice clown disguise you just put on. And so quickly too!"

And, on saying those words, Waterworks felt so good, that he finally understood why Charlie was always so happy and cheerful. He realized that he was now so used to his friend's enthusiasm that he couldn't help but see the good and the funny side of everything.

Art & Craft

- My Hand Print.

- Me and Myself mat.

GAMES

- Play twist n turn.(Draw different shapes on the ground and ask the children to run/hop/skip on the shapes)
- Walking backwards
- Stop the music and freeze.
- Indoor bowling game.

Special Activity

- Bharath Abhyan /Cleanliness Month

Competition

- Rangoli Making

Profile of the month

- Enthusiastic

Celebrations

- Gandhi Jayanthi

- Dusshera

- Muharram

Collage of Celebration

Date	Celebration	Activity
30-10-2015	Gandhi jayanthi	Special Assembly ( Art and Craft Activities)
	Dussehra
	Muharram

HOLIDAYS on account of:

- Gandhi Jayanthi Friday ,2nd October.
- Mahalaya Amavasya Monday,12th October.
- Dusshera Vaction Monday, 19th October and school reopens on 26th October Monday.

Calendar at a glance

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7 Coffee morning of IK-1	8	9	10
11	12	13 Rangoli making competition	14	15	16	17 PTM
18	19 Autumn break	20 Autumn break	21 Autumn break	22 Autumn break	23 Autumn break	24 Autumn break
25	26	27 Halloween Day	28	29	30 Gandhi Jayanti, Dusshera, Muharram World Ahimsa Day, Color and profile of the month	31

Wishing you a
Happy and Prosperous
Dussehra!

